PASTURE CARE.

Pasture is an important part of livestock production in this country. Pastures can be damaged badly by pasturing too early and too heavy. Try to let your pasture get well started this spring before turning in the stock. Rotational grazing also increases the carrying capacity of pasture and this can usually be arranged by making use of electric fence. Seeded pastures containing a mixture of grasses and a legume will produce more than straight grass. Proper use of fertilizer also can increase the value of pasture.

BABY PIG DISEASE.

This disease hits hardest baby pigs at from one to fourteen days of age. And at this stage 100% loss is quite common. Symptoms are diarrhea, vomiting and fever. Pigs which survive are usually poor doers. Older pigs may be affected but very few of them die. Losses from this disease usually stop after three or four weeks, probably because the sows develop an immunity which is passed on to their young. In order to know what action to take it is important to get a correct diagnosis of the disease. For this reason anyone with disease in pigs should avoid jumping to the conclusion that it is caused by baby pig disease until a competent veterinary has been consulted.

SEEDING FORAGE CROPS.

It is important to do everything possible to get a good catch whenever you plant forage crops. It is estimated that less than half of the forage seed planted in western Canada ever produces anything.

The biggest reason for this is that most of the seed is planted too deep. The only effective way to prevent this is to have the seed bed good and firm. Pack it at least once and possibly twice before seeding and you will be able to control the depth of seeding. Seed not more than one half inch deep, or simply broadcast the seed and harrow lightly. Seed in May if possible.

FARMERS SCHOOLS:

The last year or two the Department of Agriculture have been putting on schools in various parts of the country. These have been on a variety of subjects such as Plumbing, Welding, Electrical Schools, Farm Building Schools. As there is a limit to the number of these schools which may be held, a district school would like to have one next winter should let me know right away in order that I can send the request into headquarters. There have been Plumbing, Electrical and Welding schools held in my district in the past and they were very well received. Other parts of the district may want one of these or one of the Building schools next winter. The district showing the most interest will be the one getting the school so let me know as soon as possible.

FERTILIZER.

More and more farmers are using fertilizer each year and are finding that it pays them to do so. The latest "Fertilizer Recommendations for Alberta 1959" is available at this office. This gives the type and amount of fertilizer recommended for various districts and soils in Alberta. The rates suggested are the ones which are proving most profitable. Pick up a copy of this leaflet and look it over.

CHICKWEED CONTROL.

This weed can be a terrible pest in the garden and lawn. A new chemical which should be available this year is giving good control of chickweed in "Neburon". Most grasses are not harmed by Neburon and a lot of garden and ornamental plants are

The flu seems to have laid several more persons low. Mrs. Jack Taylor had to postpone her return trip to Seattle a week because of illness. We trust that all the ill people will soon be feeling much better.

The Sedgewick choir rendered a very fine program on Thursday evening of last week at Sharon.

Vermilion Girl Wins Trip To U. N. Assembly, N. Y.

Nine High School students participated in the final competition of the United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth Public speaking contest which was held on Monday in Irma High School auditorium. Those taking part were all winners of previous competitions held in smaller local areas.

Winner of the event was Miss Dorothy Jean Stewart of Vermilion, who took as her topic The Recognition of Communist China.

Miss Stewart's presentation was powerful and convincing and gave evidence of skilful training and preparation. Much credit for her success is due her coach, Miss Fulcher.

Alternate winner, Mr. Jim Blake of Holden, discussed The Power of the Veto and the Effects of Abolishing It.

Miss Kaye Gares of Viking spoke very capably on the subject of U.N.I.C.E.F. Her friendly style of delivery and her appeal to the audience closely rivalled the performances of the two winners. Other speakers during the evening included Miss Heather Mitchell of Coar; Miss Diane Wapinski, Provost; Miss Diane Speicht, Cairns; Miss Lillian Johnson, Loughheed; Mr. Bill Watson, Chauvin; and Miss Marian Cotton, Killam. The quality of the entries was superior.

Judges were Rev. D. Moore, Sedgewick; Mr. Gunn, Principal at Irma, and Mr. Fred Hill, also of Irma.

Miss Shariene Saunders of Killam, last year's winner, presented a brief outline of her trip to the U. N. Headquarters in New York, and expressed her sincere appreciation to the I.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges for the opportunities they are providing to young people in making the Pilgrimage possible.

Mr. Charles Hughes was Chairman of the meeting.

The Wainwright Gas Co. are keeping the Dootson road hot, before and since they commenced drilling on the Dootson farm.

Mr. Hugh Elliott is preparing to move his family from Wainwright to their new home, formerly owned by Mr. W. Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Dootson and Roger were city visitors on Wednesday.

Everyone seems too busy to be making news these days.

The first spring frosts we have observed can be seen frolicking about on Bill Patterson's farm.

Cub Corner

I have received word from the District Commissioner that he will be in Irma on Tuesday, April 28 at 7:30 p.m. to present us with our Scout (Cub) Group Charter. The sponsoring group, Group Committee, Scouters and Cubs as well as other interested persons are welcome to be at this presentation.

So far I have not heard of any willing person coming forward as a Scout Leader. This is a very important issue and we are in great need of Scout leaders. Perhaps something can be done along this line when the D.A. is here next week.

"GOOD LUCK" BY MAIL

I received a nasty letter in the mail this morning. . . a chain letter. Entitled "A Good Luck Prayer," it misquoted some scripture and then assured me it had been around the world four times bringing good luck to all who received it . . . within four days . . . and by mail.

Ah, but then it threatened me. Send no money, it instructed but copy this letter and send it to four others the same day or you will break the good luck chain and something terrible will happen to you.

It has been years since I have seen a chain letter and I had forgotten how infuriating they can be. In a rage I read the list of names to which I was supposed to add my own and noted those of several women friends.

This made me simmer down. I wondered why such nice intelligent people would follow the silly rules of a chain letter. My curiosity prompted me to phone them and ask.

They were all slightly embarrassed. "I know it's just superstition, I guess it caught me in a weak moment," one replied. "Chain letters make me just furious, but they intimidate me," said another. The replies were all similar.

I had to admit the nasty thing was intimidating me too or I wouldn't have become angry on receiving it. Its only power was in making people afraid. Who was it said fear is our real enemy? After I looked up the correct wording of the Biblical quotation, I tore the letter to shreds. "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and he shall direct thy path."

Preliminary run of Royal Tour

The Commissioner in charge of arrangements for the Royal Tour, Lt. Gen. Howard Graham, will leave Ottawa on April 8 to cover in detail the route and places to be visited by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth next summer.

General Graham will be accompanied by members of his staff and others who will be responsible, during the Queen's visit, for security, piloting aircraft, provision of transport, movement of baggage, communications, press and other arrangements. Mr. Edmund Butler, a Canadian who is assistant press secretary to the Queen, has arrived from London and will accompany the party.

The first call was at St. John's, Newfoundland, on April 8th and, from there, the party will visit other Maritime and Quebec centres, returning to Ottawa about April 15. Commencing April 20, the Western part of the route will be checked.

This preliminary run over the route is essential in order to check details of provincial and municipal programmes and meet officials who are responsible for local arrangements during Her Majesty's visit in their respective areas.

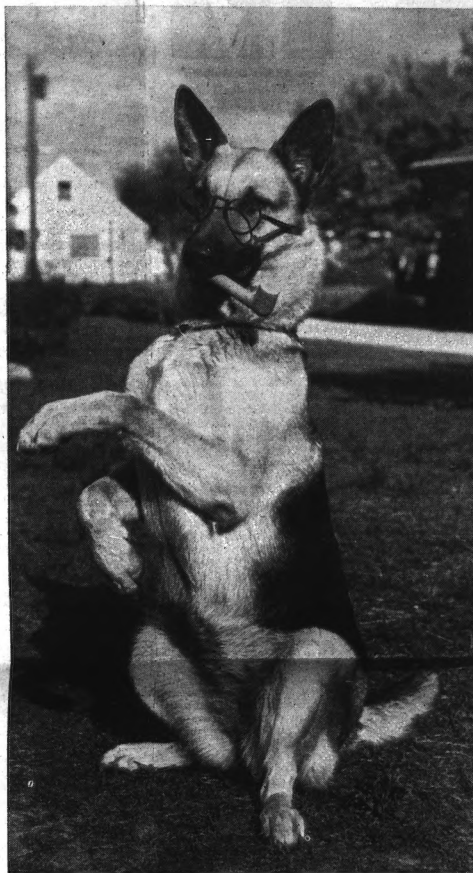

Must double universities

In 20 years from now, the number of young Canadians trying to get into universities—with the mental capacity to benefit therefrom—will be at least double the present figure warns The Financial Post.

This means that for the next two decades we will need to establish every year, a brand new university each with capacity for handling 3,000 students—or to enlarge existing institutions. There is no utopian theorizing or do-goodism in these figures. This is just the mathematical reality of what is going to be based on population and assuming that only the present proportion of our youth want to or can get to university.

"Clearly, higher education is our nation's most challenging domestic problem in the years just ahead of us," The Vermillion Standard, Vermillion, Alberta.

TERRA

Clever dog living at Smiley

Terra, whose full registered name is "Champion" Thor's Terra of Elgie, "Canadian and American C.D., C.D.X.", is something of a celebrity in the dog world. She lives in Smiley at present but her owner, Mrs. Natalie Maydanki, claims she is the most travelled dog on the North American Continent and, possibly, in the world.

Together they have travelled all over the continent, from Yellowknife, N.W.T., to the southern U.S. border, criss-crossing from east to west several times. They have travelled by car, train, boat, ship and airplane and Terra has even supplied transportation herself by pulling a sled.

Terra's career began when, as a five-month-old puppy, she put on a demonstration of obedience work for the SPCA in Edmonton. At the age of six-half months she had her picture published in the Dog World Magazine (an American publication of world-wide circulation) for being the youngest German Shepherd in Canada, and the United States to obtain her championship and CD. The initial stand for Companion Dog which is the first degree earned in obedience work. She maintained the record by obtaining the CDX (Companion Dog Excellent) a month later.

Mrs. Maydanki, a professional trainer and handler and owner of Thor Kennels, also holds classes in the art of dog training and has given Terra a wide range of training to enable her to serve as a demonstration dog in this work, and to prove that the German Shepherd (Mrs. Maydanki's favorite breed) is useful in all types of work which a dog may undertake.

During 1957 and 1958 Terra travelled widely giving demonstrations before such widely assorted audiences as fair crowds, Church groups and school picnics. At the same time Terra was picking up an assortment of cash prizes and trophies in obedience work competition. She also acquired a large repertoire of tricks.

She walks backward, crawls, speaks, sits up with spectacles on her nose and a pipe in her mouth, rolls over on command, plays dead, chases her tail, says how do you do, and takes a bow.

Terra is a diligent housekeeper and will pick up bits of paper and deposit them in a wastepaper basket and then take out the garbage. She will put away laundry, opening the lid of the clothes hamper herself and will also shake a rug.

Upon request she will fetch any article she is capable of carrying—and this includes baskets of water. She will carry objects from one place to another and when asked to "put it back" will return any object to the point where she has picked it up. At home she fetches her owner's slippers and puts away shoes. She also opens and shuts doors.

She packs and closes her own suitcase (awarded her as Best Puppy in the Show when she was six-half months old) and carries it to and from the car when travelling.

Although trained for guard work, Terra is an extremely friendly dog and is very fond of children, with whom she has remarkable patience.

The normal work of a shepherd dog has also been included in her training and she can handle cattle, horses, sheep, hogs and chickens. In answer to a challenge, Terra

Excursion fares extended by CNR

Because of their popularity, the one-day excursion fares to Saskatoon from various points in central and northern Saskatchewan will be extended for three months, the Canadian National Railways announced here.

The round-trip is offered at the regular one-way coach fare plus one-tenth on Thursdays only, from April 2 to June 25 inclusive. Tickets will be limited to date of sale only and will be good returning from Saskatoon not later than midnight.

These special coach class tickets will be on sale at Prince Albert, North Battleford, Kindersley, Melville and at all intermediate points between these cities and Saskatoon.

Maydanki trained her to hunt both upland birds and waterfowl. The ability to do much of her work by signal has made her a popular television attraction, and she has been widely photographed. Pictures and stories about her have been published in many daily and weekly newspapers in the States and she has starred in a number of training films for dog fanciers.

Mrs. Maydanki hopes to begin a class in dog training in Kindersley soon and, in that event, Terra may make her appearance on Kindersley streets—under competent control, of course, as required by the dog bylaw.—The Clarion, Kindersley, Sask.

Cattle prospects definitely good

What about the future for Canadian cattlemen? "Definitely good," says Ralph K. Bennett, chief, merchandising section, livestock division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Canadian cattle prices are tied closely to prices in the United States, he says, and in that country they are expected to remain as high this year as in 1958. Last year Canada exported the equivalent of nearly 700,000 head to the U.S.; about one-quarter of total marketings.

Further Mr. Bennett says cattle prices seem reasonably secure from any severe drop for at least two years. He points out that the next build-up in cattle numbers may come in 1961, but more likely in 1962 or 1963.

Moreover, the rapid increase in human population on the North American continent—about 3½ million more people each year—should provide a ready market for vast quantities of beef.

Last year United States purchases included 460,000 head of feeder cattle from Canada and all evidence points to a stable export again this year.

An upsurge in demand for Canadian feeders began after the severe drought was broken in the south western United States in the spring of 1957. The ranchers in that area have been buying in cattle to restock their ranges. This phase may be over now, says Mr. Bennett, but supplies of corn are very high in the United States so there is certain to be a good demand for feeders.

This means that the price for feeder cattle will be determined by what Americans are willing to pay for them. If feeders are brought from the west into Ontario, then the price paid in the west will have to be the equivalent of what the Americans figure they are worth to go south into their feed lots.

Your health library

Despite the amount of knowledge about illnesses, mental and physical, that most people possess, there is still a very great ignorance about the more serious diseases often leading to death. This can be helped by correct information. There are many publications on nutrition, mental health and general health care available without cost that contain information by authorities in the field of medicine. These booklets, folders and pamphlets can be obtained on request from local or provincial health departments.

News Report From Edmonton

By Ken Masor

EDMONTON—Orvis A. Kennedy is one of the busiest men in Alberta these days.

As the official organizer of the Social Credit party, he's responsible for having a full slate of candidates in the field when Premier Manning decides it is time to call a general election.

At the time of writing, Mr. Kennedy had candidates accounted for in 49 of the 66 provincial ridings, and expected to have the remainder named by the end of the second week in May.

You might take this as an indication that an election isn't far off. Certainly the Socreds have been told to be ready. But Mr. Kennedy claims he's as much in the dark as anyone. "I wish someone would tell me when the election will be held," he said.

So far the party has nominated 48 of its own candidates. In the Leduc riding, the local group decided to support R. Earl Ansley, rebel Social Credit leader who was ousted from the party before the 1952 election and has been sitting ever since on the Opposition side of the House as an Independent Socred.

The party is still trying to decide whether Mr. Ansley will be reinstated as a member of the Social Credit League. His membership was revoked after his outburst against government policy became too embarrassing.

The Leduc SC Constituency Association has asked that Mr. Ansley be taken back into the fold, but the decision will have to be made by the provincial executive at one of its forthcoming meetings.

Premier Manning shed no light on the situation while the Legislature was in session. W. J. C. Kirby, Conservative leader, asked him if Mr. Ansley would move over to the government side of the House after the next election.

"Thanks for conceding the election to Social Credit," replied the premier with a grin.

Mr. Ansley, onetime minister of education in the Alberta government, will have to swallow some of his extreme views on a few subjects if the party takes him back. During the past couple of sessions he hasn't spoken out quite so vehemently against government policies, but he's voted fairly consistently with the government on major issues.

Mr. Ansley is sincere about his beliefs, especially when it comes to such things as fluoridation and what he terms "welfare state legislation." When such issues arise, he doesn't hesitate to make his views known.

Whatever happens, the party appears to have decided that if you can't beat 'em, you might as well join 'em. In two elections, Mr. Ansley has left the "official" Socred candidate far behind.

An even bigger decision facing the party is the choice of a constituency for Premier Manning. In the past, he's run for Edmonton at large, but now the city is split into nine single-member ridings. Rumor had it he might run in St. Albert, just outside the city, where he has a farm. But that has been discounted.

It seems likely now he'll run in one of the Edmonton ridings. One of the ridings mentioned most often is Jasper West, where he would be opposed by Liberal Abe Miller and Conservative J. Percy Page, both sitting members of the House.

As of the last week, the Social Crediters still had to name eight candidates in Edmonton, two in Calgary and one each in Lacombe, Pincher Creek-Crowsnest, Stony Plain, St. Albert, Lac La Biche and Spirit River.

ONE OF THE STRANGEST chapters in the history of the Alberta government drew to a close last week as some 41,000 citizens received 1958 oil and gas dividend cheques for $17.50.

It was the final mailing of the 1958 distribution, and the number of cheques sent out. The government has suspended the dividend program until the five-year development plan is completed. But some political observers say it will never be revived because it caused more trouble than it was worth and its value as a vote-getter is doubtful. In the two years it operated, it cost the government around $21,000,000.

NOT A CHORE:

Washing pillows needn't be a task after having been forced. However, feather-and-down pillows require much more effort.

You can wash pillows either in the washing machine or in the bathtub. Squeeze warm water through and through, making sure the ends are plentiful and thick. Rinse the pillows out thoroughly in the same temperature water, using the same squeezing action.

DRYING PILLOWS:

If possible, dry pillows in the sun—except the foam rubber type. While drying on the clothesline plumb them up occasionally to distribute the filling evenly.

If the pillows are foam rubber, squeeze the water out thoroughly and lay them flat in a shady, breezy spot where there is a good air current. Foam rubber requires a long time to dry.

CARE OF FOAM RUBBER:

It is virtually indestructible but strong sunlight, intense heat, oil, grease, tar and some dry-cleaning fluids cause deterioration. Therefore, do not let rubber upholstered furniture stand in strong sunlight for any length of time and keep it away from radiators and steam pipes. An undesirable odor in foam rubber may be an indication of deterioration.

Any oil, grease or tar spots should be removed immediately with warm water and mild soap. If the spots are stubborn, use dry-cleaning fluid, but be careful as these fluids soften rubber and vigorous action could cause permanent damage. Tears can be mended with rubber cement.

they think. The highways department plans to use lightweight blacktopping as a means of eliminating the summer dust hazard on gravelled roads. It won't be done to main highway standards, but it will be the first stage in eventual high-grade paving and strengthening can be done later. One of the first projects probably will be on Highway 21, which runs between Camrose and Bashaw.

Diesel Tractors

Ottawa, April 17, 1959—The sale of diesel tractors in Canada increased substantially in 1958, amounting to 63 per cent of all tractors exceeding 35 h.p. and 26 per cent of all tractors below 35 h.p.

The diesel tractor costs more than the gasoline tractor of the same size but the fuel consumption is less and the cost of diesel oil is less than the cost of gasoline.

It remains for the farmer to figure out if the annual savings on the diesel are sufficient to justify him putting out the extra capital outlay to purchase it in preference to a gasoline tractor.

The spread in price between the tractors is narrowing and the economy factor varies with the size of the model.

Further information can be obtained from Bulletin 1040, "The Comparison of Power Costs of Tractors," obtainable from the Information Division, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ont.

HOW FERTILIZER BOOSTS YOUR PROFIT ON OATS

YOU CAN MAKE UP TO $6.00 PER ACRE MORE!...

Actual field tests show how your net profit per acre of summerfallow oats is boosted by the use of Elephant Brand Fertilizer.

In the table below, note that the increased profit figure takes the cost of fertilizer into consideration. An increased profit of over $6.00 per acre is certainly worthwhile.

Fertilizer per acre	50 lb. 11-48-0 (Cost $2.70)*
Increased yield per acre	18 bu. (worth $9.00)
YOUR INCREASED PROFIT PER ACRE	$6.30

* Fertilizer cost figures per acre are approximate.

When properly fertilized, oats grown on stubble land will show an equally profitable return per acre. For greater net profits per acre from any crop on any soil, contact your Elephant Brand dealer listed below for the right information.

Scholarship For Winning Essay

An essay contest is being sponsored again this year by the North-Central Weed Control Conference. The prize for the winning essay, entitled "How we control weeds on our farm," will be a $300.00 scholarship.

The contest is open to boys and girls between the ages of 12 and 18 years of age who are living in any of the three prairie provinces or the 14 north-central states, provided that their families are actively engaged in farming. The essay must be 1000 words when completed. The winner in each province and state will receive a cash prize of $25.00 and his essay will be entered in the final competition for the scholarship.

Last year the provincial prize went to Anne King of Rimby, James Fretwell of Clive, now taking a degree course in agriculture at the University of Alberta, won the scholarship in 1957.

In Alberta the contest is being organized by the Soils and Weeds Division, Field Crops Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. Mr. W. Lobay, who is in charge of the division, urges all 4-H groups and farm boys and girls to do their very best to bring the honors to Alberta. Your essay may be the key to your future so start preparing now, he advises.

For further information about this contest contact your district agriculturist or field supervisor. You can also write direct to the Field Crops Branch, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

GOOD SEED - BETTER CROPS

Seed Drill Surveys carried out periodically in each of the three Prairie Provinces consistently come up with the same answer: too many farmers are paying too little attention to the seed they sow. A high percentage of the seed taken from farmers' drills fall into the "rejected" class. They will not qualify for even No. 3 seed - the lowest commercial seed grade. Most of the samples are rejected on account of weed seeds, although poor germination and disease are important factors.

Prairie farmers grow, each year, over 40 million acres of wheat, oats, barley and flax. The value of the seed required to sow this acreage is roughly 60 million dollars. While the investment in seed may be only a small percentage of the cost of producing a crop, an investment of this magnitude deserves careful consideration. After all, poor seed will not produce maximum yields of high quality grain.

Members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association in Western Canada produce millions of bushels of Registered and Certified seed every year. Because of the lack of demand for good seed, however, much of this high grade seed is sold as commercial grain while many farmers continue to sow material which only qualifies for the commercial "feed" grades.

Improving the quality of the seed you sow does not need to be a costly project. It is not necessary to purchase Registered seed for the whole acreage on your farm. A few bushels of Registered seed sown on clean land this Spring would produce enough good seed to meet next year's requirements. The cost to say one farmer would be small, but if enough farmers followed this practice a considerable amount of the Registered grain grown each year would be used to improve Western crops instead of being sold at the elevator.

A well-managed seed plot on every farm, plus careful cleaning and more attention to proper seed treatment, would soon change the dark picture now presented by the Seed Drill Surveys - and put dollars in the pockets of Western Farmers.

TALL TALE FROM ALBERTA

A tall spindle-legged cowboy ran with giant strides from the open doorway of the hardware store in a certain Southern Alberta town. He reached the edge of the raised wooden plank sidewalk, leaped high into the air... and landed on his blue denim hip pockets, smack in the dust of the roadway in front of the store.

"Ya hurt, Bronco?" asked one of the loungers leaning against the wall of the hardware store. "Nah!" replied the sprawled cowpoke, "but I'd sure like to get my hands on the guy who moved my horse." - Calgary Power "Relay."

"THE FASCINATING CATALOGUE"

City folk have craved onto one of the pleasures of country living and made it their own. It is shopping by catalogue.

Today a healthy proportion of mail order business reportedly comes from city dwellers. Instead of watching for the mailman, a whole generation of young Canadians is growing up watching for the delivery truck, especially in suburban areas where housewives find it difficult to get "down town."

The big catalogue which is so familiar to families in two million Canadian homes outside the big centres, is apparently just as alluring to city dwellers. The average 15,000 items illustrated are the equivalent of the stock of a large department store. The illustrations which have fascinated generations of Canadians are nearly all photographs said to show the most realistic view of the merchandise so that mail order shoppers can have faith in their selections.

We are told that like a lot of things the catalogue is changing. Quicker methods of transportation and communication have made it possible to ship the latest styles to the remotest part of Canada very quickly.

Because of this, the catalogue is made up in sections like a newspaper. Pages on hardware and staple items are prepared first. Fashion pages are left to the last minutes so the latest styles can be included.

Timing is of vital importance too. In some areas the book must still be delivered to allow time to order before freeze-up. Although the mail order business from cities is growing steadily, stores still have to ship orders by plane, river boat and dog team to many parts of the country.

VIRGINIA OPPOSUM

The Virginia opossum, occasionally found in southwestern Ontario, carries its young in a pouch like the kangaroo.

WELL SUITED IN WOOL for travel is this Canadian model on location in Jamaica. Wool travel wardrobes made a hit with visitors and natives alike on a recent tour of the West Indies. The short, double-breasted jacket and slim skirt are in natural white wool tweed that stands up beautifully to the rigors of travel and packing. The draped turban in wool jersey is in tones of white, blue and green.

CNR-TCA to issue joint credit card

Canadian National Railways and Trans-Canada Air Lines have announced that they will issue a joint credit card in the early future to cover the wide range of facilities offered by the two companies.

The TCA-CNR card will be the first comprehensive travel credit card issued jointly by an airline and railroad company.

In addition to being valid for on-line passenger transportation and services over all routes operated by both companies in Canada, the U.S.A. and overseas, it will be available for hotel services, telegraph services, and rail express shipments.

The CNR will also honor the card for interim rail travel and for sleeping and parlor car charges and dining car meals excluding beverages. For TCA, the new card is tailored to meet the needs of the individual and smaller companies who do not require the more extensive world wide and Interline air travel services available under the universal air travel plan credit cards which have been issued by the airline over the past 17 years.

The joint credit card will be available to patrons of CNR and TCA in Canada and the U.S.A. and will be honored by all offices and travel agents representing both companies throughout the world.

This is in addition to the "Travel Now—Pay Later" plans already provided by both companies.

Community action controls pest

"For a strong grasshopper control program, a local control officer or supervisor should be appointed to help spearhead the attack, and to check on enforcement of local bylaws regarding this matter," P. A. Rutherford, Ogema Agricultural Representative said. Mr. Rutherford also suggested enactment of a new municipal bylaw which would state that grasshoppers be kept and killed on the farm where they hatched and to ensure early summerfall and trap strips as control measures.

Speaking further on this aspect of the question, Mr. Rutherford said: "Many authorities now believe that a major key to 'hopper control' and reduction of damage to crops, roots in the control of migrations. If these insects can be confined to hatching areas, we would be moving in the direction of migration control."

He also advocated that a district survey of sprayers be made and that municipalities order sufficient supplies of chemical insecticides immediately. In this regard, he expressed the opinion that the "hopper control program would be assisted if a standard price for chemical insecticide were established in each municipality.

In addition, the speaker urged local bodies to plan well in advance for preparatory 'hopper control work on roadsides and railway right-of-way.

"Remember that the municipality, the municipality and the farm play the key roles in any grasshopper control program," he told his audience, "thus the logical place to begin 'grazing' the wheels of 'hopper control' campaign would be at the local agricultural district board meeting."

In reviewing the successful 'hopper control campaign of last year, Mr. Rutherford said: "In every municipality where every farm had purchased and made use of chemical insecticide and where farmers had summer-fallowed early and prepared trap strips, a successful program was recorded. In such areas as these it was proven by the farmers that crops can be saved—grasshoppers can be controlled—by timely community action."

Issues strong warning on 'discount clubs'

"The RCMP has been instructed to apprehend and charge any person caught operating a 'discount club' racket in Saskatchewan," Hon. R. A. Walker, provincial Attorney General, said.

He declared that "vague reports" had reached him that "there are some promoters of 'discount clubs' operating in certain areas of Saskatchewan." He emphasized that "since January 1, 1959, such operations have been illegal by virtue of the Commercial Agents Act, unless licensed and bonded under the act. No licenses have been issued, and none will be issued."

Mr. Walker urged that every victim of these "racketeers" report immediately to the RCMP.

"It seems that when a person has been bilked of $100.00, he may be bashful about reporting it," said the Attorney General. "However, every victim of these racketeers owes a duty to the public to report promptly to the RCMP any sale, or attempted sale, of such a scheme. This is the only way the public can be protected in future."

Mr. Walker further pointed out that it is the intention of the Attorney General's department to have a separate charge laid with respect to each person victimized, "so that a really substantial fine or term of imprisonment can be meted out to these individuals."

In the year ending March 31, 1959, the CBC will have a deficit estimated at $45 million.
